Watercolour Painting

There are different techniques and brushstrokes we can use when painting to achieve different effects. How many did you use in your painting during this unit?

Origami

Origami is the traditional Japanese artform of folding a single piece of paper into a 3D form. The paper does not need to be cut, just folded in a very specific way for each different model. In this unit we made a simple 3D bird using paper which we had decorated using our painted patterns and textures inspired by the
