Mini Mappers

Four compass points

Geographers use these to give directions or to locate places.

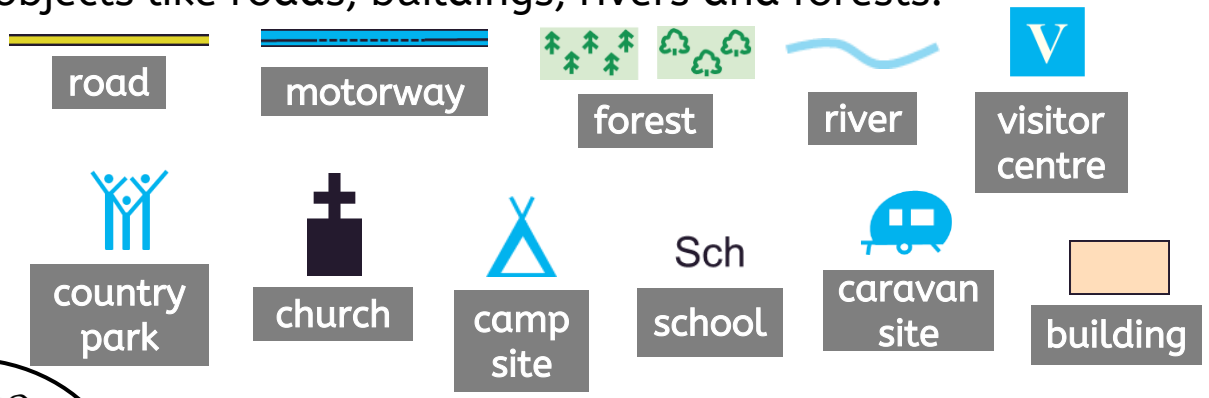
Map symbols

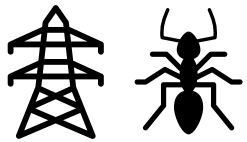
Lines and symbols on a map represent real-life objects like roads, buildings, rivers and forests.

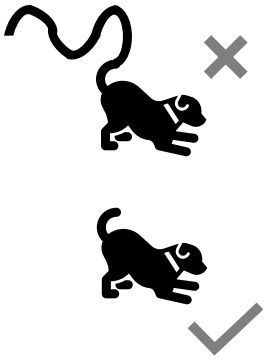


Using scale

When geographers draw maps, they need to draw them to scale. This means:

- objects are drawn smaller or bigger than they are in real life.





- objects still look the same as they do in real life. They are just bigger or smaller.
